INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff Julia Jin-Wolfson (“Plaintiff”), individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated, by and through her counsel, hereby respectfully moves the Court for preliminary approval of the proposed class action settlement (“Settlement”) set forth in the Stipulation of Settlement (“Settlement Agreement” or “SA”) (attached as Exhibit 1 to the contemporaneously filed Declaration of Nicholas A. Colella (“Colella Decl.”)). Plaintiff, with consent of Defendant Lafayette College (“Lafayette,” the “College,” or “Defendant”), respectfully moves this Court, pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23, for an order: (1) granting preliminary approval of the Settlement; (2) approving the form and content of the Notice to be sent to the members of the Settlement Class¹ pursuant to the plan detailed in the Settlement Agreement; and (3) scheduling a final fairness hearing.

Plaintiff, on behalf of herself and a proposed class of individuals, has agreed to settle all claims against Lafayette as to tuition and fees paid during the Spring 2020 semester. Plaintiff alleges that Lafayette contracted with, charged, and collected from its students’ funds for in-person education and on-campus access and services, but that Lafayette failed to deliver an in-person education and on-campus access and services when, in response to the Covid-19 pandemic, Lafayette moved all classes to online-only and constructively closed the campus. As set forth in the Settlement Agreement, all students who do not opt-out of the Settlement will receive a payment under the Settlement and the Non-Cash Benefit, in consideration for the release of their claims against Lafayette. All students will receive an equal distribution of the Net Settlement Fund.

As set forth below, the proposed Settlement is the product of fully informed, arm's-length settlement negotiations, including a mediation with the Hon. Thomas J. Rueter (Ret.). Given these factors, and those more fully discussed below, the Settlement meets Rule 23(e)'s requirements for the issuance of notice. Plaintiff therefore respectfully requests that the Court preliminarily approve the Settlement and enter the proposed Preliminary Approval Order.²

BACKGROUND AND STATUS OF THE LITIGATION

On October 17, 2023, Plaintiff Julia Jin-Wolfson ("Named Plaintiff") filed a class action Complaint in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania styled Jin-Wolfson v. Lafayette College, Case No. 5:23-cv-04005 (ECF 1) (the "Action"). On her own behalf, and on behalf of a putative class, Plaintiff asserted claims for breach of implied contract and unjust enrichment. Id.

On December 7, 2023, Lafayette filed its Answer and Affirmative Defenses (ECF 9), which denied that it breached any contract with Named Plaintiff or was unjustly enriched, and asserted that its actions were compelled by governmental shut-down orders. The Parties participated in the Rule 16 Conference before the Court on February 29, 2024 (ECF 20). Thereafter, the Parties engaged in extensive class, merits, and expert discovery, participated in multiple depositions, and exchanged detailed information relating to the merits of the case. While discovery was ongoing, the Parties engaged in potential early resolution discussions. On July 10, 2024, the Parties moved to stay the Action pending mediation (ECF 26), which was granted on July 24, 2024 (ECF 27). On August 21, 2024, the Parties held a mediation session in front of Hon. Thomas J. Rueter (Ret.).

² While Lafayette denies liability, it does not oppose this Motion, and supports preliminary approval of the Settlement Agreement, certification of the proposed class for settlement purposes only, and dissemination of the Class Notice to the proposed class members.

During that mediation, the Parties ultimately reached an impasse (ECF 28), and the Court lifted the stay (ECF 29).

On November 7, 2024, Plaintiff moved to certify a class consisting of: “All Lafayette College students whose payment obligation of tuition and/or fees was satisfied for the Spring 2020 semester and who were enrolled in at least one in-person on-campus class.” (ECF 39). The proposed definition of the class excluded students who received full Lafayette-funded scholarships covering all payment obligations for the Spring 2020 term. Class certification was fully briefed as of December 12, 2024, and no decision has yet been issued by the Court.

While the Parties continued to engage in merits discovery, the Parties again began discussing early resolution. After numerous demands and counter-offers, the Parties reached an agreement in principle and signed a term sheet on February 3, 2025. Over the ensuing weeks, the Parties negotiated the final terms of the Settlement and its supporting exhibits.

Based upon their independent analysis, and recognizing the risks of continued litigation, counsel for Plaintiff believe that the proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and in the best interest of Plaintiff and the Class. Although Lafayette denies liability, Lafayette decided to enter into this Settlement on the terms and conditions stated herein to avoid further expense, inconvenience, and burden, and the uncertainty and risks of litigation. For those reasons, and because the Settlement is contingent on Court approval, the Parties submit their Settlement Agreement to the Court for its review.

SUMMARY OF THE TERMS OF THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

The key components of the Settlement are set forth below, and a complete description of its terms and conditions are contained in the Settlement Agreement.

A. Class Definition

Through the Settlement Agreement, the Parties stipulate to the following Class definition:

All Lafayette College students whose payment obligation of tuition and/or fees was satisfied for the Spring 2020 semester, and who were enrolled in at least one in-person on-campus class as of March 16, 2020.

SA ¶ 1(v). Excluded from the Potential Settlement Class are all Lafayette College students who received scholarships, grants, or credits that equaled or exceeded their total payment obligations to Lafayette for the Spring 2020 semester, or who were otherwise not obligated to make contributions, payments or third-party arrangements towards tuition or fees for the Spring 2020 semester. Id. The Parties estimate that there are approximately 2,175 individuals in the Settlement Class. Should the Court grant final approval of the Settlement, by operation of law and as set forth in Paragraph 12 of the Settlement Agreement: (a) all members of the Releasing Settlement Class Parties shall be deemed to have released any and all Released Claims against the Released Lafayette Parties, and (b) shall forever be barred and enjoined from prosecuting any or all of the Released Claims against any of the Released Lafayette Parties.

B. The Proposed Class Notice

The Settlement Agreement provides for dissemination of a Short Form Class Notice. The Short Form Class Notice will provide Potential Settlement Class Members with pertinent information regarding the Settlement as well as directing them to the Long Form Class Notice, the Settlement Website, and the contact information for Class Counsel. Within thirty (30) days after entry of the Preliminary Approval Order, Lafayette shall provide the Settlement Administrator with a list that includes the names and last known personal email address and permanent postal address, to the extent available, belonging to all Potential Settlement Class Members. See SA ¶ 18.

Shortly after receiving the Class List, the Settlement Administrator will send the Short Form Notice (attached to the SA as Exhibit A-1) via email or U.S. Mail. See SA ¶ 19. The Short Form Notice shall advise the Potential Settlement Class Members of their rights under the Settlement, including the right to be excluded from and/or object to the Settlement or its terms. The Short Form Notice shall also inform Potential Settlement Class Members that they can access the Long Form Notice on the Settlement Website. The Long Form Notice shall advise the Potential Settlement Class Members of the procedures specifying how to request exclusion from the Settlement or submit an objection to the Settlement. See SA ¶ 20.

Before the issuance of the Short Form Notice, the Settlement Administrator shall also establish a Settlement Website, which will include the Settlement Agreement, the Long Form Notice, any relevant Court orders regarding the Settlement, and a list of frequently asked questions mutually agreed upon by the Parties. See SA ¶ 21. Contact information for the Settlement Administrator, including a Toll-Free number, as well as Class Counsel's contact information will be provided. The form and method of Class Notice agreed to by the Parties satisfies all due process considerations and meets the requirements of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(e)(1)(B). The proposed Long Form Class Notice describes plainly: (i) the terms and effect of the Settlement Agreement; (ii) the time and place of the Final Approval Hearing; (iii) how the recipients of the Class Notice may object to the Settlement; (iv) the nature and extent of the release of claims; (v) the procedure and timing for objecting to the Settlement; and (vi) the form and methods by which Potential Settlement Class Member may either participate in or exclude themselves from the Settlement.³

C. Monetary Terms

The proposed Settlement Amount is a non-reversionary cash payment of $456,750.00. See SA ¶ 39. In accordance with the Settlement Agreement, the Settlement Administrator shall make deductions from the Settlement Amount for court-approved attorneys' fees and reasonable litigation costs, fees, and expenses for the Settlement Administrator, and any court-approved Case Contribution Award to the Plaintiff, in recognition of the risks and benefits of her participation and substantial services she performed. See SA ¶ 40. After all applicable fees, expenses, and awards are deducted, the Net Settlement Fund will be distributed equally to each Settlement Class Member. SA ¶ 4. To the extent that a Potential Settlement Class Member properly executes and files a timely request to be excluded from the Settlement Class, they will not be entitled to receive any of the Net Settlement Fund. SA ¶ 5.

Should the Court grant preliminary approval of the Settlement, Lafayette shall pay the Settlement Amount into an escrow account with the Settlement Administrator within thirty (30) days after the Court enters the Preliminary Approval Order. See SA ¶ 39. Within sixty (60) days after the Effective Date of the Settlement, the Settlement Administrator will send Settlement Class Members their portion of the Settlement Benefit by check, Venmo, or PayPal. See SA ¶¶ 7, 9. The Settlement Administrator will pay all legally mandated Taxes prior to distributing the settlement payments to Settlement Class Members. See SA ¶ 44.

Settlement Class Members shall have one hundred and eighty (180) days from the date of distribution of the checks to cash their check for the Settlement Benefit. All funds for Uncashed Settlement Checks shall, subject to Court approval, be designated for a scholarship fund for Lafayette students. See SA ¶¶ 1(mm), 9.

D. Non-Cash Benefit

In addition to the monetary Settlement Benefit, each Settlement Class Member will receive five (5) complimentary tickets to regular season Lafayette basketball (men's or women's) or football games on Lafayette's campus to be used between July 1, 2026 and June 30, 2027, subject to the following conditions: (i) Settlement Class Members may request their complimentary tickets for specific games after Lafayette begins its sale of single-game tickets for the relevant season;

(ii) complimentary tickets requested by Settlement Class Members will be issued only when available seating exists for a game (the location of which is subject to availability within the venue), and will not displace already-sold tickets; (iii) complimentary tickets cannot be sold or transferred for cash; and (iv) all games between Lafayette and Lehigh University are excluded. The Settlement Administrator will provide instructions on how to redeem the Non-Cash Benefit via email and through the Settlement Website. Potential Settlement Class Members who properly execute and file a timely opt-out request to be excluded from the Settlement Class will not be entitled to receive any Non-Cash Benefit. See SA ¶¶ 1(t), 10-11.

E. Dismissal and Release of Claims

Upon the Settlement becoming Final, Settlement Class Members shall be deemed to have forever released any and all suits, claims, controversies, rights, agreements, promises, debts, liabilities, accounts, reckonings, demands, damages, judgments, obligations, covenants, contracts, costs (including, without limitation, attorneys' fees and costs), losses, expenses, actions or causes of action of every nature, character, and description, in law, contract, tort or in equity, that any Releasing Party ever had, or has, or may have in the future, upon or by reason of any matter, cause, or thing whatever from the beginning of the world to the Effective Date, arising out of, concerning, or relating in any way to Lafayette's transition to or provision of remote education with respect to the COVID-19 pandemic, or the implementation or administration of such remote education, the closing of its campus due to the COVID-19 pandemic or the provision of any services whatsoever that were altered in connection with the COVID-19 pandemic during the Spring 2020 semester. This definition includes but is not limited to all claims that were brought or could have been brought in the Action. These releases are described in the proposed Long Form Class Notice.

ARGUMENT

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(e), as amended in 2018, “explicitly discusses the requirements for class settlements.” Hall v. Accolade, Inc., No. 2:17-cv-03423, 2019 WL 3996621, at *2 (E.D. Pa. Aug. 23, 2019). First, the parties “provide the court with information sufficient to enable it to determine whether to give notice of the proposal to the class.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(1)(A). The court then decides whether “giving notice is justified by the parties’ showing that the court will likely be able to: (i) approve the proposal under Rule 23(e)(2); and (ii) certify the class for purposes of judgment on the proposal.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(1)(B).

In conducting their preliminary review, courts are cognizant that there is a “strong public policy . . . which is particularly muscular in class action suits, favoring settlement of disputes, finality of judgments and the termination of litigation.” Ehrheart v. Verizon Wireless, 609 F.3d 590, 593 (3d Cir. 2010); accord In re Warfarin Sodium Antitrust Litig., 391 F.3d 516, 535 (3d Cir. 2004) (emphasizing that “there is an overriding public interest in settling class action litigation, and it should therefore be encouraged”).

At this “preliminary approval” stage, a district court may provisionally certify a class, “leaving the final certification decision for the subsequent fairness hearing.” Hall, 2019 WL 3996621, at *2; accord Fulton-Green v. Accolade, Inc., No. 18-cv-00274, 2019 WL 316722, at *1 (E.D. Pa. Jan. 23, 2019); Myers v. Jani-King of Philadelphia, Inc., No. 09-cv-1738, 2019 WL 2077719, at *2 (E.D. Pa. May 10, 2019) (stating that preliminary approval is not a commitment to grant final approval but “establishes an initial presumption of fairness”).

If the Court determines that it will “likely be able to” approve the Settlement and certify the Settlement Class, it should direct notice in a “reasonable manner to all class members who would be bound by the proposal.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(1)(B). The notice is usually sent under both Rule 23(e)(1) (regarding settlement) and Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)(B) (regarding class certification). See 2018 Advisory Committee Notes on Rule 23(c); Fulton-Green, 2019 WL 316722, at *1, 5 (granting motion for preliminary approval settlement “because it is within the range of possible approval, the requirements of conditional class certification are met, and the notice plan is reasonably designed to notify class members of the settlement agreement”); In re Processed Egg Prods. Antitrust Litig., No. 08-md-2002, 2014 WL 12614451, at *2-4 (E.D. Pa. Dec. 19, 2014) (conditionally certifying class, preliminarily approving settlement, and directing notice to proposed class); In re Imprelis Herbicide Mktg, Sales Prac. and Prods. Liab. Litig., No. 11-md-02284, 2013 WL 504857, at *1 (E.D. Pa. Feb. 12, 2013) (same).

A. The Settlement Is “Fair, Reasonable, and Adequate” and Satisfies the Rule 23(e)(2) Factors for Preliminary Approval.

Rule 23(e)(2) sets forth the factors a court must consider in determining the fairness of a class action settlement. The factors include whether: “(A) the class representatives and class counsel have adequately represented the class; (B) the proposal was negotiated at arm’s length; (C) the relief provided for the class is adequate, taking into account (i) the costs, risks, and delay of trial and appeal, (ii) the effectiveness of any proposed method of distributing relief to the class, including the method of processing class-member claims, (iii) the terms of any proposed award of attorney’s fees, including timing of payment, and (iv) any agreement required to be identified under Rule 23(e)(3); and (D) the proposal treats class members equitably relative to each other.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2).⁴

In determining whether preliminary approval is warranted, the Court should consider whether the “proposed settlement discloses grounds to doubt its fairness or other obvious deficiencies such as unduly preferential treatment of class representatives or segments of the class, or excessive compensation of attorneys, and whether it appears to fall within the range of possible approval.” Mehling v. New York Life Ins. Co., 246 F.R.D 467, 472 (E.D. Pa. 2007) (citations omitted); see also Mack Trucks, Inc. v. Int’l Union, UAW, No. 07-cv-03737, 2011 WL 1833108, at *2 (E.D. Pa. May 12, 2011) (same). Under Rule 23, a settlement falls within the “range of possible approval” if there is a conceivable basis for presuming that the standard applied for final approval—fairness, adequacy and reasonableness—will be satisfied. See Mehling, 246 F.R.D. at 472. The Settlement here, as explained below, exceeds the preliminary approval threshold. Plaintiff, without opposition from Defendant, respectfully requests that this Court preliminarily approve the proposed Settlement.

i. The proposal was negotiated at arm’s length.

As referenced above, the Settlement resulted from arm’s-length negotiations between experienced counsel with an understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of their respective positions in this litigation, assisted in part by a neutral and highly experienced mediator. These circumstances weigh in favor of approval. Whether a settlement arises from arm’s-length negotiations is a key factor in assessing preliminary approval. See, e.g., In re Nat’l Football League Players’ Concussion Injury Litig., 301 F.R.D. 191, 198 (E.D. Pa. 2014) (a presumption of fairness exists where parties negotiate at arm’s length, assisted by a retired federal judge who served as a mediator); Gates v. Rohm & Haas Co., 248 F.R.D. 434, 439, 444 (E.D. Pa. 2008) (stressing the importance of arm’s-length negotiations and highlighting the fact that the negotiations included mediation).

The Parties participated in settlement discussions during a mediation session with Hon. Thomas J. Rueter (Ret.) of JAMS. Colella Decl. ¶ 7. While the Parties did not reach an agreement during that mediation, the Parties continued to engage in resolution discussions, including multiple demands and counter-offers, while simultaneously engaging in hard fought litigation. Id. Class Counsel who negotiated the Settlement are knowledgeable and respected class action litigators with significant experience in complex cases. Id. at ¶¶ 18-19; Declaration of Anthony Alesandro ¶¶ 3-6 (“Alesandro Decl.”). After reaching an agreement in principle, the Parties spent significant time drafting and revising drafts of the full Settlement Agreement, proposed notices, and proposed orders, and selecting the Settlement Administrator. Colella Decl. ¶ 10. At all times, these negotiations were at arm’s length, and were courteous, professional, intense, and hard-fought on all sides. Id.

ii. The relief provided for the class is adequate.

This case and the proposed Settlement are the product of significant investigation of Plaintiff’s and Class Members’ claims. Class Counsel conducted extensive and lengthy research into the issues presented in this matter, participated in depositions, reviewed voluminous documentation and all information that Lafayette produced, reviewed and analyzed publicly available financial information, consulted with experts, and analyzed the applicable legal precedents and previous settlements in similar cases. Colella Decl. ¶ 13.

The Parties engaged in extensive formal discovery, and the information uncovered and reviewed by Class Counsel and their experts provided the information needed for Class Counsel to objectively evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of Plaintiff’s and Settlement Class Members’ claims.⁵ Id. ¶ 6.

Based on the information obtained from this discovery and through public financial information, Class Counsel's independent investigation of the relevant facts and applicable law, and Class Counsel's broad experience with other complex and novel cases, Class Counsel determined that the Settlement is fair, reasonable, adequate, and in the best interest of the Settlement Class. Id. ¶ 14.

iii. The settlement accounts for the costs, risks, and delay of trial and appeal.

To determine whether a settlement provides adequate relief to the Class, the Court must evaluate “the costs, risks, and delay of trial and appeal,” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2)(C)(i), which involves considering the “complexity, expense, and likely duration of the litigation,” were this case to proceed to trial, in relation to the Plaintiff's “likelihood of success” on the merits. Edwards v. Horizon Blue Cross Blue Shield of New Jersey, No. 08-cv-6160 (KM), 2018 WL 10133574, at *3 (D.N.J. June 29, 2018). The likelihood of success on the merits necessarily implicates certain Girsh factors as well, including the concerns about the maturity of the substantive issue, the risks of establishing liability, the risks of establishing damages, and the risks of maintaining the class through the trial. Therefore, it is appropriate to address Rule 23(e)(2)(C)(i) in conjunction with the Girsh factors.

The immediate benefits that the Settlement provides stand in contrast to the risks, uncertainties, and delays of continued litigation. Class Counsel thoroughly assessed those contingencies in considering the terms of the Settlement. Colella Decl. ¶ 14. If litigation continues, Plaintiff and Class Members would need to overcome a number of issues, including obtaining class certification that was currently pending before the Court, briefing motions for summary judgment, defending expert opinions, and maintaining certification through trial. See In re CertainTeed Fiber Cement Siding Litig., 303 F.R.D. 199, 216 (E.D. Pa. 2014) (“[I]f the parties were to continue to litigate this case, further proceedings would be complex, expensive and lengthy, with contested issues of law and fact That a settlement would eliminate delay and expenses and provide immediate benefit to the class militates in favor of approval.”); Craig v. Rite Aid Corp., No. 4:08-cv-2317, 2013 WL84928, at *9 (M.D. Pa. Jan. 7, 2013) (preliminarily approving settlement where “[n]ot only would continued litigation of these cases result in a massive expenditure of Class Counsel’s resources, it would likewise place a substantial drain on judicial resources.”). Although Class Counsel are confident in their ability to overcome these challenges, they create risks for the Class that must be weighed against value of any potential recovery.

The strength of the settlement here is demonstrated, in part, by comparison with monetary recoveries in other university settlements involving tuition refunds following transition from in-person to remote online learning caused by the Covid-19 pandemic and resulting governmental orders. See, e.g., Smith et al v. University of Pennsylvania, Case No. 2:20-cv-02086-TJS (E.D. Pa.) ($4.5 million settlement with a per student recovery of $173.08); Choi et al v. Brown University, Case No. 1:20-cv-001914-JJM-LDA (D.R.I.) ($1.5 million settlement with a per student recovery of $155.44); Fittipaldi v. Monmouth University, Case No. 3:20-cv-05526-RLS (D.N.J.) ($1.3 million settlement with a per student recovery of $206.50); Rocchio v. Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, No. MID-L-003039-20 (N.J. Super. Ct.) ($5 million settlement with a per student recovery of $77.48); Espejo et al v. Cornell University, Case No. 3:20-cv-00467-MAD-ML (N.D.N.Y.) ($3 million settlement with a per student recovery of $115); Carpey v. Board of Regents of the University of Colorado, No.: 2020cv31409 (Denver Dist. Ct.) ($5 million settlement with a per student recovery of $83.33). Here, the gross per student recovery is approximately $210, and does not include the value of the Non-Cash Benefits.

There are several risks in this case that could pose obstacles to achieving a favorable outcome for Plaintiff and the Settlement Class. If not for the Settlement, Plaintiff would be faced with the task of extensive and contentious motion practice including opposing Lafayette’s upcoming motion for summary judgment, which could have resulted in dismissal of this case. Likewise, Plaintiff may have lost on the pending motion for class certification, resulting in zero recovery for the absent class members. While Plaintiff believes she would have prevailed, Plaintiff acknowledges there are risks involved in this litigation—a relatively new area of law—including proving the existence of an implied contract, or that Lafayette has been unjustly enriched. See In re Tyco Int’l, Ltd. Multidistrict Litig., 535 F. Supp. 2d 249, 260 (D.N.H. 2007) (noting that, because the case “involved a greater risk of non-recovery” due to “still-developing law,” this factor weighed in favor of approval). Given that the case law is still developing, there is uncertainty whether Plaintiff would likely prevail on the merits had the case gone to trial.

Plaintiff likely would have continued to incur significant costs to prove their case through fact and expert discovery, and possibly trial. See, e.g., Fulton-Green v. Accolade, Inc., No. CV 18-274, 2019 WL 4677954, at *8 (E.D. Pa. Sept. 24, 2019) (recognizing that continued litigation “would be a time consuming and expensive process that would delay relief for class members”); In re Yahoo! Inc. Customer Data Security Breach Litig., No. 16-md-02752, 2020 WL 4212811 (LHK), at *8 (N.D. Cal. July 22, 2020) (approving settlement after finding, among other things “[l]itigation costs would be quite high, given that the case involves complex technical issues and requires substantial expert testimony”), appeal dismissed, No. 20-cv-17438, 2021 WL 2451242 (9th Cir. Feb. 16, 2021); see also In re Compact Disc Minimum Advertised Price Antitrust Litig., 216 F.R.D. 197, 212 (D. Me. 2003) (explaining that, absent settlement, “[m]ore experts will have to be hired at great expense”), judgment entered, No. MDL 1361, 2003 WL 21685581 (D. Me. July 18, 2003). Given the novel nature of the alleged misconduct, this Action would necessarily involve a battle of experts with respect to damages and other issues. See In re Cendant Corp. Litig., 264 F.3d 201, 233 (3d Cir. 2001) (explaining that the first Girsh factor favors approval of a settlement when the case involves “complex and protracted discovery, extensive trial preparation, and difficult legal and factual issues”); see also In re Yahoo!, 2020 WL 4212811, at *9, 13 (noting that prior to settlement of class action, plaintiffs produced four different expert reports, and defendants deposed four experts and filed three Daubert motions to exclude plaintiffs’ experts).

The costs and risks would only further increase as the Parties file motions in limine, and proceed through to trial and any related appeals. The proposed Settlement, if approved, exchanges the extensive costs and a lengthy litigation timeline with prompt financial recovery and certainty for the Class, finality as to the Parties, and the preservation of the Court’s time and resources that can be redirected elsewhere.

The Settlement appropriately balances the strength of Plaintiff’s case against the risks and potential outcomes of continued litigation. See Geis v. Walgreen Co., No. 07-cv-4238, 2010 WL 11570447, at *12 (D.N.J. Sept. 30, 2010) (finding that several obstacles at trial meant that “the risks of continued litigation and the benefits of immediate settlement favor settlement”). Because of the substantial costs, risks and delay in recovery associated with continued litigation, the first, fourth, fifth, and sixth Girsh factors and Rule 23(e)(2)(C)(i) support approval of the Settlement.

iv. The settlement provides for an effective method of distributing relief to the Class.

The Settlement creates a straight-forward and automatic distribution procedure for Class Members to receive benefits. SA ¶¶ 6–7. It also provides for effective notice to Class Members using email and, if no email is available, U.S. mail, and Class Counsel is confident that the addresses of nearly all Class Members will be ascertained by the time Notice is issued. SA ¶ 19;

Colella Decl. ¶ 15; See also RG/2 Decl.⁶ A Settlement Website will also be created that will host in depth information regarding the Settlement, as well as all relevant documents related to the Settlement. SA ¶ 21. For these reasons, Class Members are likely to gain familiarity with the terms of the Settlement and their rights.

v. The proposed attorneys' fee award is reasonable.

Class Counsel has devoted significant time and financial resources to the litigation despite the uncertainty of prevailing at class certification and on the merits, and of establishing damages. Pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, prior to a Final Approval Hearing, Class Counsel will file a motion seeking an amount not to exceed thirty-three and one-third percent (33.33%) of the Settlement Amount as a fee award, plus reimbursement of all reasonable litigation expenses incurred. This maximum amount Class Counsel can request is presumptively reasonable. In In re Ravisent Techs., Inc. Sec. Litig., Judge Surrick noted that “courts within [the Third] Circuit have typically awarded attorneys’ fees of 30% to 35% of the recovery, plus expenses.” 2005 WL 906361 (E.D. Pa. Apr. 18, 2005) (citing In re CareSciences, Inc. Sec. Litig., Civ. A. No. 01–5266 (E.D. Pa. Oct. 29, 2004)) (awarding one-third recovery of $3.3 million settlement fund, plus expenses). Importantly, this fee request is plainly documented in the proposed Short Form and Long Form Class Notices.

vi. Additional agreements required to be identified under Rule 23(e)(3)

Rule 23(e)(2)(C)(iv) requires courts to consider any agreement among the parties outside of the settlement agreement. See also Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(3) (“The parties seeking approval must file a statement identifying any agreement made in connection with the proposal.”). Other than the

Settlement Agreement itself, there are no additional agreements involving the parties related to this Settlement. Colella Decl. ¶ 9.

vii. The remaining Girsh factors also support approval of the Settlement.

Given the present posture of the Action, it is too early to evaluate the second Girsh factor concerning the reaction of the proposed Settlement Class. If the Court grants preliminary approval of this Settlement, Class Notice will be issued to Settlement Class Members, advising them of their opportunities to voice their reaction to the Settlement. Notably, Plaintiff, whose interests are aligned with the Settlement Class, supports the Settlement and has been closely involved in its negotiation. Colella Decl. ¶ 11.

The third Girsh factor asks whether sufficient discovery has been completed to provide the parties with a “clear view of the strengths and weaknesses of their cases.” In re Ravisent Techs., 2005 WL 906361, at *8 (internal citations omitted). This does not require the parties to complete discovery. See Tumpa v. IOC-PA, LLC, No. 3:18-cv-112, 2021 WL 62144, at *8 (W.D. Pa. Jan. 7, 2021) (approving a settlement where the “limited discovery” was sufficient to provide the parties “with an appreciation of the merits of the case”); see also note 5, supra. As described above, Class Counsel had more than sufficient information, along with the help of Retired Magistrate Judge Thomas J. Rueter, to assess the Settlement in light of the strengths of the case and determined that the Settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate.

The seventh Girsh factor, the ability to withstand a greater judgment, is relevant if “a settlement in a given case is less than would ordinarily be awarded but the defendant’s financial circumstances do not permit a greater settlement.” Reibstein v. Rite Aid Corp., 761 F. Supp. 2d 241, 254 (E.D. Pa. 2011). This factor is not dispositive, and courts apply a flexible standard as to how much weight it is given based on the unique circumstances of a given case.⁷ When “the Court has not been presented with any reason to believe that [defendant] faces any financial instability . . . this [Girsh] factor is largely irrelevant for the purpose of resolving the instant motion.” Id. at 254.

Finally, the Settlement should also be approved under the eighth and ninth Girsh factors because it is reasonable “in light of the best possible recovery” and “in light of all the attendant risks of litigation.” Girsh, 521 F.2d at 157. The reasonableness inquiry compares “the present value of the damages plaintiffs would likely recover if successful, appropriately discounted for the risk of not prevailing, [against] the amount of the proposed settlement.” In re CertainTeed Corp. Roofing Shingle Prod. Liab. Litig., 269 F.R.D. 468, 489 (E.D. Pa. 2010) (quoting In re Gen. Motors Corp. Pick-Up Truck Fuel Tank Prod. Liability Litig., 55 F.3d 768, 806 (3d Cir. 1995)). Given that Covid-19 litigation is an emerging area of law, the risk of continued litigation is significant, making the instant settlement, which provides significant relief to the class, now as opposed to years of litigation without the guarantee of recovery, even more reasonable.

B. The Settlement Treats Class Members Equitably Relative to Each Other.

Finally, as discussed above, the Settlement treats all Class Members equitably and provides all Class Members with the same convenient means to recover under the Settlement by distributing the funds equally and providing each Settlement Class Member with the Non-Cash Benefit. “A district court’s ‘principal obligation’ in approving a plan of allocation ‘is simply to ensure that the fund distribution is fair and reasonable as to all participants in the fund.’” Sullivan v. DB Invs., Inc., 667 F.3d 273, 326 (3d Cir. 2011) (quoting Walsh v. Great Atl. & Pac. Tea Co., Inc., 726 F.2d 956, 964 (3d Cir. 1983)). The proposed Settlement’s equal distribution clearly satisfies the fair and equitable treatment requirement.

The Girsh factors and Rule 23(e)(2)(C)(i) thus support approval of the Settlement.

C. The Proposed Settlement Class Satisfies the Criteria of Rule 23.

Courts may certify settlement classes that satisfy the requirements of Rule 23(a) and at least one provision of Rule 23(b). See Amchem Prods. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 620-22 (1997); Fulton-Green, 2019 WL 316722, at *2. The proposed Settlement Class satisfies all requirements of Rule 23(a): “(1) the class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable; (2) there are questions of law or fact common to the class; (3) the claims . . . of the representative parties are typical of the claims . . . of the class; and (4) the representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class.” Further, as required by Rule 23(b)(3), “questions of law or fact common to class members predominate over any questions affecting only individual members,” and a “class action is superior to other available methods for fairly and efficiently adjudicating the controversy.” Thus, the Settlement Class should be preliminarily certified, pending a final certification order after the Fairness Hearing.

i. Rule 23(a) - Numerosity

The proposed Class is sufficiently numerous. Rule 23(a)(1) requires that the class be “so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23. Here, there are approximately 2,175 students in the Class. See Colella Decl. ¶ 7. The numerosity requirement is therefore amply satisfied.

ii. Rule 23(a) - Commonality

The proposed Class also satisfies the commonality requirement. See generally Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 564 U.S. 338, 357-360 (2011). Rule 23(a)(2) requires that there be “questions of law or fact common to the class,” and that the class members “have suffered the same injury.”

Wal-Mart, 564 U.S. at 349-50. The commonality inquiry focuses on the defendant's conduct. Sullivan, 667 F.3d at 297 ("commonality is informed by the defendant's conduct as to all class members and any resulting injuries common to all class members"). "Commonality exists when proposed class members challenge the same conduct of the defendants." Schwartz v. Dana Corp., 196 F.R.D. 275, 279 (E.D. Pa. 2000). Here, commonality exists because the Class Members' claims share several common questions of law or fact, including: (a) whether Defendant engaged in the conduct alleged herein; (b) whether there is a difference in value between online distance learning and live in-person instruction; (c) whether Defendant breached its contracts with Plaintiff and the other members of the Class by retaining tuition and fees without providing the services the tuition and fees were intended to cover; (d) whether certification of the Class proposed herein is appropriate under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23; (e) whether Class members are entitled to declaratory, equitable, or injunctive relief, and/or other relief; and (f) the amount and nature of relief awarded to Plaintiff and the other Class Members.

As such, the Class raises common questions of law and fact which arise from a "common nucleus of operative facts" with respect to their claims against Defendant. See In re Centocor, Inc. Secs. Litig. III, No. 2:98-CV-00260, 1999 WL 54530 at *2 (E.D. Pa Jan. 27, 1999).

iii. Rule 23(a) - Typicality

Rule 23(a)(3) requires that a named plaintiff's claims be "typical" of those of other class members. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23. Whereas commonality evaluates the sufficiency of the class, typicality judges the sufficiency of the named plaintiffs as representatives of the class. Baby Neal for & by Kanter v. Casey, 43 F.3d 48, 57 (3d Cir. Dec. 15, 1994). "When a defendant has engaged in a common scheme relative to all members of the class, there is a strong assumption that the claims of the representative parties will be typical of the absent class members." Sherman v. American Eagle Exp., Inc., No. 09-575, 2012 WL 748400, at *5 (E.D. Pa. March 8, 2012) (citing

In re Linerboard Antitrust Litig., 203 F.R.D. 197, 207 (E.D. Pa. 2001)). “Even relatively pronounced factual differences will generally not preclude a finding of typicality where there is a strong similarity of legal theories or where the claim arises from the same practice or course of conduct.” In re Nat’l Football League Players Concussion Inj. Litig., 821 F.3d 410, 428 (3d Cir. 2016). Plaintiff’s experiences were typical of all other students. Plaintiff and each member of the Class enrolled as on-campus students at Lafayette, registered for in-person classes, complied with Lafayette’s policy and procedures, satisfied their tuition and fee obligations for in-person and on-campus facilities and services, were denied the same when Lafayette closed its campus in Spring 2020, and did not receive a pro rata tuition or fee refund. Moreover, the members of the proposed Class have no individual interests in controlling the litigation because, unlike a tort claim, all of their claims share a common set of facts. As such, Plaintiff’s claims are typical of the claims of members of the proposed class.

iv. Rule 23(a) - Adequacy

The final requirement of Rule 23(a) requires that “the representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23. “The adequacy requirement encompasses two distinct inquiries designed to protect the interests of absentee class members: whether the named plaintiffs’ interests are sufficiently aligned with the absentees’, and the qualifications of the counsel to represent the class.” Ripley v. Sunoco, Inc., 287 F.R.D. 300, 309 (E.D. Pa. June 26, 2012); see also Dewey v. Volkswagen Aktiengesellschaft, 681 F.3d 170, 182 (3d Cir. 2012).

Here, adequacy is readily met. First, Plaintiff has no adverse or “antagonistic” interests towards absent Class Members. Plaintiff seeks to hold Defendant accountable for, among other things, failing to refund the portion of tuition and fees associated with the part of the Spring 2020 semester during which it failed to provide in-person education and on-campus access and services.

Further, Plaintiff has demonstrated allegiance and commitment to the litigation. As such, Plaintiff's interests are well aligned with the interests of the absent Class Members. Second, Class Counsel is qualified, experienced, and competent in complex litigation, and have an established, successful track record in class litigation—including several similar class action suits related to Covid-19. See Colella Decl. ¶¶ 18-19; Alesandro Decl. ¶¶ 3-6. Accordingly, the adequacy requirement is satisfied.

D. Rule 23(b) Requirements Are Satisfied Here.

Under Rule 23(b)(3), a class may be certified when the court finds that (1) common questions of law or fact predominate over individual issues and (2) a class action would be superior to other methods of resolving the controversy. Predominance “tests whether proposed classes are sufficiently cohesive to warrant adjudication by representation.” Amchem, 521 U.S. at 594, 623. Superiority requires the court “to balance, in terms of fairness and efficiency, the merits of a class action against those of alternative methods of adjudication.” In re Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. Sales Prac. Litig. Agent Actions, 148 F.3d 283, 316 (3d Cir. 1998). Plaintiff readily meets both requirements.

“[The] predominance test asks whether common issues of law or fact in the case predominate over non-common, individualized issues of law or fact.” Neale v. Volvo Cars of North America, LLC, 794 F.3d 353, 370 (3d Cir. 2015) (citations and quotation marks omitted). “Predominance begins, of course, with the elements of the underlying cause of action.” Id. Nevertheless, “the presence of individual questions does not per se rule out a finding of predominance” and if common issues “overwhelm individual issues, predominance should be satisfied.” Id. at 371. Notably, the Third Circuit has remarked that it is “more inclined to find the predominance test met in the settlement context.” In re NFL, 821 F.3d at 434 (quoting Sullivan, 667 F.3d at 304 n.29). Here, the common issues—whether Defendant breached its contracts with Plaintiff and the members of the Class by failing to provide them with in-person, on-campus instruction, educational services, and use of facilities after March of 2020, yet retaining the tuition and fees paid for the same—clearly predominate over any individual issues that may exist. Each Class Member suffered similar harm for the same amount of time due to the same actions or inactions of Defendant. Further, the alleged contractual arrangements between each of Defendant’s students and Defendant—receiving in-person, on-campus instruction, educational services, and use of facilities—are substantively identical. Similarly, the nature of Defendant’s alleged breach is the same for each member of the Class, regardless of their academic major, scholarships, or any other ancillary criteria.

Second, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure direct courts to weigh the following factors to determine whether a class action is superior to other alternative methods of adjudication: “(A) the class members’ interests in individually controlling the prosecution or defense of separate actions; (B) the extent and nature of any litigation concerning the controversy already begun by or against class members; (C) the desirability or undesirability of concentrating the litigation of the claims in the particular forum; and (D) the likely difficulties in managing a class action.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3)(A)–(D). Here, each of these factors weighs in favor of finding that superiority is satisfied.

Plaintiff and the other Class Members, due to Defendant’s alleged misconduct, experienced almost identical circumstances. Seeing that these cases involve a relatively small amount of damages compared to the enormous investment of time and money that it will take to litigate them, individual plaintiffs would have little interest in and gain little benefit from initiating separate actions, and individual lawsuits would needlessly waste judicial resources as each lawsuit would likely involve the same evidence concerning Defendant’s alleged wrongdoing. Indeed, this proposed settlement effectively resolves approximately 2,175 students' lawsuits. Accordingly, the Court should preliminarily approve the Class such that Notice may be effectuated.

E. The Proposed Settlement Notice to the Class Should be Approved

“Rule 23(e)(1)(B) requires the Court to direct notice in a reasonable manner to all class members who would be bound by a proposed settlement, voluntary dismissal, or compromise....” Manual for Complex Litigation, Fourth § 21.312. “First, Rule 23(c)(2)(B) requires ‘the best notice that is practicable under the circumstances, including individual notice to all members who can be identified through reasonable effort.’” In re Remicade Antitrust Litig., No. 17-CV-04326, 2022 WL 3042766, at *10 (E.D. Pa. Aug. 2, 2022) (citing In re NFL, 821 F.3d at 435. “Additionally, principles of due process ‘require[] that notice be ‘reasonably calculated, under all the circumstances, to apprise interested parties of the pendency of the action and afford them an opportunity to present their objections.’” Id. (finding notice sufficient where notice was sent via email, then by postcard if an email bounced back).

Here, the Parties' proposed notice plan includes email (where available), direct mail (where email is not available), and creating a Settlement Website. SA ¶¶ 19-21. This comprehensive notice plan is intended to fully inform Potential Settlement Class Members of the proposed Settlement, and the information they require to make informed decisions about their rights. The proposed Short Form and Long Form Class Notices contain “simple and straightforward language and not legalese” and “the notice program is robust and is likely to ensure that all members receive notice of the claims and their rights with respect to the settlement.” Caddick v. Tasty Baking Co., No. 2:19-CV-02106-JDW, 2021 WL 1374607, *2 (E.D. Pa. Apr. 12, 2021). Accordingly, this Court should approve the form of notice and the method of publication that Plaintiff proposes as they satisfy the due process requirements of Fed. R. Civ. P. 23.

F. Nicholas A. Colella of Lynch Carpenter, LLP and Michael A. Tompkins and Anthony M. Alesandro of Leeds Brown Law, P.C. Should be Appointed as Class Counsel

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g) requires the Court to examine the capabilities and resources of counsel to determine whether they will provide adequate representation to the class. Class Counsel—Nicholas A. Colella of Lynch Carpenter, LLP and Michael A. Tompkins and Anthony M. Alesandro of Leeds Brown Law, P.C.—easily meet the requirements of Rule 23(g). See Colella Decl. ¶¶ 18-19; Alesandro Decl. ¶¶ 3-6; see also Resumes of Lynch Carpenter, LLP and Leeds Brown Law, P.C. Importantly, Plaintiff is represented by counsel experienced in class action litigation including directly analogous cases. Indeed, Class Counsel and their firms have worked on dozens of university tuition refund cases and have been appointed class counsel in substantially similar matters. See, Colella Decl. ¶¶ 18-19; Alesandro Decl. ¶¶ 3-6. Moreover, Class Counsel’s work in this case on behalf of the Plaintiff and the proposed class and collective has been substantial. As such, this Court should appoint Nicholas A. Colella of Lynch Carpenter, LLP and Michael A. Tompkins and Anthony M. Alesandro of Leeds Brown Law, P.C. as Class Counsel.

CONCLUSION

The proposed Settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate. Thus, for all the reasons set forth above, preliminary approval should be, respectfully, granted and the Preliminary Approval Order entered to permit the Parties to effectuate notice to the Potential Settlement Class Members.
